Perfect Confidence.

Norway People Have Good Reason for Complete Reliance.

Do you know how—
To find relief from backache;
To correct distressing urinary ills;
To assist weak kidneys?
Many people in this vicinity know the way.

Have used Doan's Kidney Pills;
Have proved their worth in many tests.

Here's grateful South Paris testimony.

L. E. Monk, Pleasant St., South Paris, Me., says: "About ten years ago I suffered every day from a lame back. The kidney secretions were unnatural and I knew that my kidneys needed attention. Someone told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box. They did me so much good that I continued taking them. Two or three boxes made me well. Another of my family joins me in recommending this remedy. We have also advised other people to take Doan's Kidney Pills and will continue to do so."

Looking Backward.

In Oxtfield.—IX.

My last sketch in the series of "Looking Backward in Oxtfield" reminiscences was devoted to Oxtfield village and why it was formerly called "Phillips' Gore." From some notes taken from Cumberland Registry of Deeds, I also find that many of the lots of land purchased by original settlers of Oxtfield were given by Harrison Gray Otis for whom the town was named. Here are a few of them:

Harrison Gray Otis to George Pierce.
Harrison Gray Otis to Mark Knight.
Harrison Gray Otis to Samuel Gammon.
Harrison Gray Otis to Enoch Spurr.
Harrison Gray Otis to David Rea (Ray).
Harrison Gray Otis to Benjamin Patten.
Harrison Gray Otis to Olin Pierce.
Harrison Gray Otis to Griffin Blake.

George Pierce was the first settler of the town who came from Groton, Middlesex County, Mass., in 1775. He was a real business man of the old school and was distinguished in his day for his enterprise, honesty and integrity of character. He was a Justice of the Peace under the appointment of the governor of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, and as agent of the proprietors of the township, surveyed the lands and made out the deeds to the purchasers for the proprietors to sign.

Here is an example copied in outline from Cumberland Registry, book 30, page 274: "Harrison Gray Otis, Sergt., and Samuel Alynne Otis of County of Essex to David Rea, gentlemen, and Jonathan Moore, yeoman, both of Oxtfield, as agents in common, in consideration to build a sawmill and sawmill dam and mill dam, a parcel of land further described in the deed.

The sawmill was, no doubt, the first sawmill erected at the outlet of Saturday Pond, which disappeared nearly a half century ago, except the name. The mill dam is yet extant. This deed was given in 1792.

The description of lands sold to settlers in Phillips' Gore contain almost invariably this or similar phraseology: "John Phillips, Jr., to Thomas Edes, lot of land in that part of Oxtfield called Phillips' Gore, No. 15, 4th range, 107 feet wide, to Barney Sawyer, lot of land in that part of Phillips' Gore, No. 24 in 2d range, 77 acres."

"To John Linnell of Gorbham, county of Cumberland, Massachusetts, yeoman, 1/2 lot of land in that part of said Oxtfield called Phillips' Gore." Signed John Phillips and Lydia Phillips, Andover, com. of Massachusetts.

A deed given in 1792 names as the "consideration," "Ninety-five pounds, sixteen shillings, 10d lawful money." This was after the adoption of the federal constitution but evidently before the change to our present decimal form of currency.

I remember distinctly when the present highway from Wight's Corner to Oxtfield was located and built, but cannot state the precise year. It was called the "Canada Hill Road," and I think involved quite a controversy concerning its location. That was, I think, before 1850. It proved to be a great public convenience, but necessitated the discontinuance of the old road for nearly a mile, leading by the old Shaw-Barrow tannery, toward Greely Hill and Oxtfield (Craigie's Mills).

One of the most sensational events, occurring in Oxtfield seventy or more years ago, was the disappearance of a young boy of eight years, old, from his home in the Cobb neighborhood. His name was Ethan Owen Elwell. He was the son of a poor woman residing in Poland or some other place across Thompson Pond. A general alarm, caused by the absence of the boy from his home was responded to by citizens of town and from Casco, and several days were spent searching through woods. There occurred an incident which led at once to the finding of the lost boy. It is related in one of the verses of a poem composed by Orson Drake, a local poet of that time:

"There was a man named Barclay Wight, Who dreamed he saw the boy one night; In Thompson pond both dead and cold; And in the morning of the next day found him lying on the shore." This dream led to renewed effort for the discovery of the lost little boy, and he was soon found lying drowned in the edge of the pond, in the southern section known as "The Heath." It was a very sad event and it enlisted the deepest sympathy of our children particularly, and we wept freely when the "girlie" cousins sang the pathetic song by Drake. There are few now living that can remember the story of the boy that was lost, and discovered by a dream.

Did you ever "go a-suckering" Mr. Editor? The Brooks tributary to Thompson pond, also Pleasant pond, abounded in suckers in the early spring and a time when was regarded a special treat as a temporary switch-off from salt pork or beef.

Well, one night in the 40s or thereabouts I was in the company of some East Oxtfield boys on the Sucker brook between that pond and the pond, where we soon encountered a similar party from Scribner Hill and vicinity. We were wading down the brook and spearing the big fish as they came up. Somewhere we collided with the other party and their commotion a lively fray, such may be remembered by some of my readers.

The form of hostilities consisted in hurling firebrands through the air, each adversary being well armed with a plentiful supply of pitch pine torches. I think the outcome of it was a drawn battle and no injuries, damage to either party. But the thing I remember most distinctly and impressed itself most indelibly, was the great prowess of the champion fire-fighter of the other force, and his wonderful skill in disseminating his pitchwood torches at us with his left hand. He might have been a descendant of the Benjamin of old Bible times. I have never seen him since that memorable night, but his brave deeds and his name are not forgotten. He was Ivory Whitman.

Another suckering expedition was in the early '90s on the brook which means down from College Swamp by Hancockville. The principal heroes of the party were Joseph Hancock and Silas Nutting, two of the most genial friends of my life. It was an occasion for the exercise of a lively imagination, with which they were well endowed. So, as we followed the brook down toward the pond, it was quite wonderful what variety of fish were taken by those two Knights of the Spear. First, Hancock would announce the capture of a salmon; then Nutting would shout, "I've got a cod!" the next minute Hancock would have secured a haddock or some other well-known inhabitant of the salt water, until, at length, nothing less than a halibut or a whale was eligible to be considered in the number of the big fish on the string we were making up as trophies of this piscatory adventure. But they all looked very much like suckers after all.

And the fun we had out of it; how I often laugh over the memory of such extravagant notions as my friends displayed on that long ago experience of going a-suckering!

The festive land-locked salmon and black bass were then unknown in our lakes and ponds except in Sebago and Long Lakes. But since we are familiar with these, suckers are unmentionable, only as subjects of tame reminiscences of days that will never come back.

BY GRANVILLE FERNALD.

Thanksgiving Prayer.

Fill thou my heart with gratitude today
For every friendly word and kindly smile
And even the smallest blessing "long the way"
That cheers my saddened heart a little while.

I thank Thee for the sunshine and the rain;
I thank Thee for my laughter and my pain;
I thank Thee for the common things of life
When want and need and poverty are rife.

I thank Thee, Lord, that grief can't always last;
That there's an end to sorrow's darkest day.
Then give me gratitude for pleasures past,
My joys that Thou savest fit to take away.

The treasures that were lent me for awhile
And then recalled, O help me, Lord, to smile
And say, "Thy will be done," sincere and true,
For all my cruel sorrow and mistakes.

I humbly offer thanks to Thee today.
If thus I've learned to soothe a heart that aches
Or turn some wanderer's feet back to the way
That leads to home and heaven and peace and God.

Thus only can I thank Thee for the rod;
To help another mourner to bear his loss,
Thus only can I learn to kiss Thy cross.

Beautiful Hair--a Clean, Cool Scalp

If your hair is anything short of perfect; if it is too dry, brittle, dull, thin, or if the scalp itches, immediately begin the use of Parisian Sage. The first application removes dandruff, cools and invigorates the scalp and increases the beauty of the hair.

Parisian Sage, a scientific preparation supplies hair needs. It contains the exact elements needed to make the hair soft, wavy, and glossy, and to make it grow—it is delicately perfumed—not sticky or greasy.

Apply Parisian Sage and the effect is immediate. One application stops the head from itching and freshens up the hair. Use it daily for a week and you will be surprised and delighted. Parisian Sage is one of the quickest acting hair tonics known.

DON'T DOPE A PUNY CHILD

Parents—don't give that puny, ailing, underweight child any of those so-called "tonics" containing alcohol or dangerous drugs; such stuff won't give relief and health to grown people, let alone children. Its purpose is to stimulate for a short time after each dose, just as whiskey or morphine does, thus making you believe it is doing good.

Give that child something that will really build it up—replenish the wasted tissues—feed the stunted, dwarfed, puny muscles—make it lively, strong, well-filled of the animal spirits children are meant by nature to have. Give it Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is wholesome, nourishing, free from alcohol and dangerous drugs. It's the ideal nerve, blood and body builder. It does the work it is planned to do better than any other medicine we know of, and our faith in it is so great that we not only urge you to use it and give it to your children—but we guarantee that it will do all we say it will, or cost you nothing.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion should be given to children who catch cold easily. Begin right now, and use it to build up the child's system to such strong health that liver rot, colds, croup, grippe, bronchitis, catarrh, pneumonia, and other cold weather diseases. You who are weak and run-down, and you who are well now, but are liable to suffer from various cold weather ailments, use Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion to get and keep well all through the winter. It is a run-down, nervous, emaciated or debilitated—the convalescing—growing child—aged people—it is a sensible aid to renewed strength, better spirits, glowing health.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion—king of the cod-liver-oil Remedies—is for freedom from sickness of you and your family. You'll be as enthusiastic about it as we are when you have noted its pleasant taste, its strengthening, invigorating, building-up, disease-preventing effects. It does not help you, your money will be given back to you without argument. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of more than 7,000 leading drug stores in the United States, Canada and Great Britain. F. P. Stone, 143, Main Street, Norway, Me.

OH! YOU HAVE SUCH BEAUTIFUL HAIR!

What a pleasant thing to have said to you! And why shouldn't it be? You who envy others their lovely hair, and are ashamed of the dull, lifeless, stringy appearance of your own—use Harmony Hair Beautifier, and let others envy you.

This delightful liquid seems to polish and brighten the hair, giving it that burnished, lustrous look you have so often wished it might have, adding to its softness, making it easier to put up and "stay put"—making it more attractive and beautiful in every way. It overcomes the unpleasant, oily smell of your hair, leaving a dainty, rich rose perfume that will delight you and those around you.

Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing. Contains no oil; will not change the color of hair nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing.

Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Can't harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet cleanliness.

Both preparations come of old, cheap, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony laboratories in Boston, where the many celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made. Joseph Andrew's Letters.

Hunting for gold is a mania with many people and amongst the mountains of California thousands of miners are constantly looking for the precious crust. Year after year while strength and health endure, the miner with mattock, spade and pan, searches through the valleys and gulches in search of placer gold, or with hammer, drill, and mortar, searches the rocky mountain side; the one hoping to find vast wealth in some hidden pocket of shining gold dust, the other dreaming of untold wealth to come from some rich load or mineral vein as yet undiscovered.

Many of these men left their far away eastern homes, their friends and loved ones, and in their young manhood, full of hope and faith, came to the Golden State, fully expecting in a few short years to acquire a fortune, and then to go back to spend their latter days in ease and comfort in the old home land.

While a few succeeded, a great proportion of the prospectors fail. Year after year they struggle on until the arm grows weak and the eyes grow dim, and then having hoped till hope is dead, and being too proud to go back broke, they hide themselves away in some of these secluded valleys until life closes, and then are laid away by kindly hands in some miner's cemetery.

Mr. Swan told me that in all the years that he has been away from home, I was the only person that he had met that he had ever known before. The three days that we spent together in that far off mountain home were days long to be remembered. We talked of the old home, the old friends, and recalled many of our childhood's pranks and plays and then the time of parting came. I do not know as I can close this sketch in a more appropriate way than by quoting a part of that old familiar song "20 years ago" which with a few changes and calling it 50 years ago, will fairly represent the meeting of the two Joes at Happy Camp, California, April 22-24, 1913.

I've wandered to the village, Jo, I've sat beneath the tree
Upon the schoolhouse play ground, that sheltered you and me;
But none were left to greet me, Jo, and few were left to know me,
Who played with us upon the green, some fifty years ago.

The grass was just as green, Jo, bare footed boys at play
Were sporting, just as we did then, with spirits just as gay
But the "master" sleeps upon the hill, which, coated o'er with snow,
Afforded us a sliding-place some fifty years ago.

The old schoolhouse is altered now; the benches are replaced
By how ones, very like the same our penknives once defaced.
But the same old bricks are in the wall, the bell swings to and fro
Its music's just the same, dear Jo, as 'twas fifty years ago.

The river's running just as still; the willows on its side
Are larger than they were, Jo; the stream appears less wide;
But the grape vine swing is ruined now, where once we played the bean,
And swing our sweethearts, pretty girls, just fifty years ago.

The spring that bubbled 'neath the hill, close by the spring where we once bled,
Is very low 'twas then so high t at we could hardly reach;
And, kneeling down to get a drink, dear Jo, I started so
To see how sadly I am changed, since fifty years ago.

Near by that spring, upon an elm, you know you cut my name,
Your sweethearts just beneath it, Jo, and you did mine the same.
Some heartless wretch had peeled the bark, 'twas dying slow but sure,
Just as she died, whose name you cut, some fifty years ago.

My lids have long been dry, Jo, but tears came to my eyes,
I thought of her I loved so well, those early broken ties.
I visited the old church yard, and took some flowers to strew
Upon the graves of those we loved, some fifty years ago.

Some are in the church yard laid, some sleep beneath the sea;
But few are left of our old class, excepting you and me;
And when our time shall come, Jo, and we are called to go,
I hope they'll lay us where we played, just fifty years ago.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lydon, Saturday, at half after one o'clock, Mildred W. Lydon of Bethel became the wife of Harry A. Lydon of Auburn. Rev. W. C. Curtis of the Congregational church was the officiating clergyman, using the single ring service.

She is one of Bethel's beloved young ladies, a musician of much ability, having served for several years as organist at the Congregational church.

Mr. Lydon was born in Bethel, the son of the late Abial and Ella Verrill Lydon. He has been a resident of Auburn since 1898, where the couple will reside.

The house decorations were very pretty, the living room being decorated in blue and white, while the color scheme in the room in which the wedding ceremony was solemnized was carried out in pink carnations and green, the bower of orange filling the box window.

The couple have received many valuable presents of money, silver, cut glass, fine linen and china.

Do It Now.

By CORA M. W. GREENLEAF.

If you've a cheery smile to spare,
A kindly word to say,
To lift another's load of care
And help them on their way,
I guess you'd better do it now,
For if you put it off, somehow
It might turn out too late.

If you've a dollar for the poor,
You better make it so,
Or if you rather make it more,
The Lord won't punish you—
But he'll be sure to give it out,
You better give it now.

If you've a quarrel on your hands
That's got to be made right,
All the power of haste demands
You do it ere 'tis night.

If there's forgiveness due from you
To some one that you love,
Just give it, generous and true,
And give it ere too late.

If you've got any love for me
I want it here and now—
Don't wait until I'm gone from thee
So far I won't know how Much you love me here, today—
Now while my heart is sore,
So tell me all your heart would say—
Now add a little more.

Why wait to do the things we plan,
Kind, beautiful and true,
When now's the only time we can
Be sure to put them through?
Today is ours—our little hour—
Tomorrow'll be too late,
To do it now is in our power,
Then why procrastinate?

At Bethel Inn, Thanksgiving Day, a special dinner will be provided for the public.

Rev. J. H. Little preached at Locke's Mills, last Sunday at 5:30 p. m. and will speak there again in two weeks.

A little flurry of snow Tuesday morning gave a hint of what is coming later. The sun quickly removed the snow, except on the distant hills.

The annual chicken pie supper, by the ladies of the Universalist parish was enjoyed by a goodly number, and was a financial success. Just at the supper hour, a generous shower of rain set in, and this prevented a number from attending, who rarely miss the annual social gathering.

Next Sunday Rev. Mr. Little will deliver a Thanksgiving sermon at Macdonald's, 2:30 p. m. Rev. Mr. Little and family will be at Exeter, N. H., Thanksgiving day. The usual union Thanksgiving service at Bethel is to be omitted this year, and instead each church will have its own service.

SILAGE FOR BEEF CATTLE FEEDING

Attention has frequently been called to the fact that the cattle feeder gets his largest profit not directly from feeding operations, but rather from the increased productiveness of his land, says the Iowa Homestead. But the average man likes to see a profit on every branch of his operations. Unless live stock farming can be carried on so that by and for itself it pays well for the time occupied in carrying it on, then no amount of screaming from the house top will ever make the live stock industry take permanent root on the farms of the corn belt.

One of the experiment stations recently finished up a bunch of steers that were fed shelled corn, cottonseed meal and clover hay. These steers were purchased at $5.55 per hundred pounds, and they were sold for $8.25, but in spite of this good spread in value the net profit per steer was $3.37. It cost $14.23 to make a hundred pounds of gain on these steers, computing the feed at regular market prices. In an adjoining feed lot a similar number of steers were fed the same length of time, but in this case corn silage was used in place of clover hay. These steers were bought at the same price—namely, $5.55 per hundred pounds—and they sold 10 cents per pound higher than the steers fed on hay, or for $8.35 per hundred pounds. Their gains were made at a cost of $9.88 per hundred pounds, and the net profit per steer in this case was $20.96.

These results are worth pondering over by those who propose to follow along the same old fashioned route in feeding cattle. The cheap gains in this case were due to the fact that a given acreage produces a larger amount of good fattening food in the form of ensilage than can be produced in any other way. The man who tries to finish cattle on dry feed alone must in the future compete with those who take this short cut to cheap gains. There can be only one outcome of a situation like this—namely, that the practice of those who use the cheapest meat making foods will be the basis of cost in the future. Those who cannot bring the cost down to this minimum point by the use of this comparatively inexpensive food will be eliminated from the business or they must continue to carry it on at a loss, relying wholly for their profit upon the effect of feeding operations on the productiveness of their land. As said before, this profit will not suffice in the case of the average man. If dry feed cannot be fed at a profit then quit feeding dry feed. If ensilage reduces the cost of making gains anywhere from 2 to 4 cents a pound, then how is this competition to be met by those who do not feed ensilage?

HEBRON.

Barrows Memorial.

Last winter a granite boulder, nearly five feet high placed under the trees at the east of the Hebron Academy building and upon this a tablet recently has been set in memory of Deacon William Barrows, founder of the Academy. This is a fitting memorial of the man who came into an almost unbroken forest and laid the foundations of a town, a church and a school. The inscription is on a bronze tablet and reads as follows:

"I fear God and know no other fear." Words and spirit of William Barrows, born of colonial stock in Carver, Mass., Jan. 22, 1798; patriot soldier in the war for Independence; pioneer and settler of this land; founder of Hebron Academy; liberal giver to its needs; its eloquent defender when in danger of removal elsewhere; deacon of the church; foremost citizen of Hebron; its representative in the General Court of Massachusetts. A wise, public spirited, earnest and true. Died in Hebron, Nov. 22, 1887. To him this monument in grateful memory of his beneficence is erected by his descendants, 1913.

To Be A Successful Salesman.

While waiting upon one customer, if another customer should be standing and a floor manager or someone should ask,
"Are you being waited on?" never say,
"Oh, she doesn't want anything," or,
"She has been waited on," let her speak for herself.

Never misrepresent quality or overstate
price reductions or make any statement about your goods or service that are not absolutely right.

Never allow nearness to closing time or your lunch hour to reduce your stock of politeness and unwillingness.

Do not be in a hurry to get rid of a customer after she has assented to the purchase of an article.

Before you tear off your sales check be sure whether there may be something else in your section that she may desire.

Take advantage of every opportunity to introduce other lines and other departments.

When you are sure your customer is through at your section get her sales-check money (if a cash sale) and the goods to the cashier at once.

Thank your customer, and do it as though you meant it.

Do not suggest sending small packages
—rather, "Will you take it?"

Lose no opportunity to put in a good word for the goods and for the store.

A Friend Writes

The wedding gift of members of the house to Miss Jessie Wilson will be a magnificent lavalliere. That beats any dictionary that the Democrat possesses, but it appears from other sources of information that the gift is a necklace or pendant with a number of diamonds.

(Since the above was in type it is learned from another source that the name of the thing is spelled lavalliere, but that doesn't bring it any nearer the dictionary.)

If the Democrat will consult Funk and Wagnall's new Standard Dictionary he will find "lavalliere," a piece of jewelry consisting of a necklace and pendant.
So called in honor of a duchess of the same name, "Lavalliere."

FRYEBURG.

A Trip Abroad.

Edith and Caroline E. McMillan, formers of this town, but now of Minneapolis, Minn., left home on November 5 for an extended pleasure tour through the foreign lands. They spent a few days with the family of their sister, Helen
(Mrs. Charles M. Wiley) at Orange, N.
J., and on November 15 embarked from New York on the Cunard Steamship Company's steamship, "Franconia" for Italy. On the cruise, thither they will touch at Madeira, Gibraltar, Algiers, Monaco, Naples, Trieste, where there will be a stop-over of two days, and Rome, and, after tarrying three days at the latter place, will return to Naples, touching at Messina and Palermo on the way.

From December 13, the date of their arrival at Naples, they will remain in Italy till February 3, when they will embark at Genoa on the Hamburg-American Line's steamship "Cleveland" for the portion of that line's "Orient-India Cruise," which includes Malta, Greece,
Egypt, the Suez Canal, India, Ceylon,
the Holy Land, Palermo, Genoa and Naples. From Naples they will embark on April 6 for New York, where they will arrive on April 18.

The sisters are very fond of travel, and they take an extended pleasure tour together every year. Last year they took the round-the-Pacific tour (so called) between San Francisco and Australia, embarking from San Francisco on December 11 and reaching home, via that city,

fell over backwards eight or ten feet into the water. He struck on his back on a ledge in the water and was stunned for a few minutes by the shock. When he recovered, the water, which was not very deep at this place, was flowing over him and he nearly strangulated him. No serious injury seems to have resulted thus far from the fall, but Mr. Hanscombe, who had a narrow escape from a serious accident as he expressed it, "is

A Valuable Suggestion

Important to Everyone

It is now conceded by physicians that
the kidneys should have more attention
as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons
and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

During the winter months especially,
when we live an indoor life, the kidneys
should receive some assistance when needed, as we take less exercise, drink
less water and often eat more rich heavy
food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than Nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame
back, annoying bladder troubles, smart-
ing or burning, brick-dust or sediment, sallow complexion, rheumatism, may be
weak or irregular heart action, warns
you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

Many physicians claim that an herbal medicine containing no minerals or opiates has the most healing influence.
An ideal herbal compound the has had most remarkable success as a kidney
and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's
Swamp-Root.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcels post. Address
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.,
and enclose ten cents; also mention the

tiser. 46 49

Revolutionary Soldiers.

Since the article in the Advertiser of
Nov. 21st was printed, Judge C. F.
Whitman writes:

I have found among my memoranda
of local notes, evidently taken from the researches of the late Dr. O. N. Bradbury,
the statement that Ebenezer Whitmarsh,
the Revolutionary Soldier, came to Norway from Massachusetts in 1784. His wife was Mary Humphrey of Gray. They settled on a fifty acre lot adjoining Benjamin Herring's land, now the Frank
T. Pike place. He was a solid built man like his grandson, Col. Wm. Whitman,
Whitmarsh and of few words. He died
June 5, 1827 and was buried on Pike
Hill. His house was afterwards hauled to Frost Corner and forms a part of the building on the Charles Partridge place.

The records in the Registry of Deeds
shows that the Ebenezer Whitmarsh
farm was sold by his heirs to Moses Bradbury in 1828. These heirs were Capt. John Whitmarsh, who then resided near North Norway, Thomas Whitmarsh of Gray and their sisters, Betsey, who married Amos Noble of Norway, and Lydia, who married Elias Brown and Lydia, who married Tristram Emery. The two latter families settled in Waldo County, Maine.

The widow of Ebenezer Whitmarsh
said to have been his 2nd wife, Mary
Rich died the next day after he did aged 70. He was two years younger. There must have been a double funeral, a remarkable occurrence, yet no mention is made of it in either history.

I have found also another item of interest relating to a Revolutionary soldier:
Enoch Frost born about 1750 in Goshen,
Me., served as Sergt. Major in Col. Jones than Mitchell's Regt. in the Penobscot Expedition mentioned. He was a younger brother of David Frost, the father of the four Frost brothers, who settled on Frost Hill and vicinity. He is said to have come to Norway late in life and died here about 1815 and was buried in the Frost Hill burying ground, "being the first grown person to be buried
there." He had a son Coleman Frost,
for whom the late well known Coleman
F. Lord was named.

Mr. Frost makes 45 soldiers of the Revolutionary War, who were Norway
citizens.

His First $100.

Frank True, city treasurer of Council Bluffs for the past decade or two, and quite an extensive property owner in this city was once a waiter and made his first $100 as a tip.

Frank had his experience as a waiter called to his mind yesterday when he received a copy of the country weekly
from his former home at Norway. The paper, in the thirty years ago section,
mentioned the fact that the Vanderbilts,
who had been stopping at a big hotel at the foot of Mount Washington had, upon leaving after the summer months left a waiter.

Mr. True was one of the waiters and says that he got $100 as his share. The waiters at the hotel were all students and were putting in the summer attending tables as a method of earning their way through school.

It would make a much better story to build the foundation of Frank's later prosperity upon that $100, but it is remored that senior proms and other similar transactions ate up the cash of the Vanderbilts. — [Omaha Daily News.

December, where he will spend the winter months.

Mrs. Zetta Howe, who has been spending some time at her old home in Jackson, N. H. has gone to Portland, where she is the guest of Frank H. Haskell of Richardson street.

Harriet A. Pike recently entertained a few old friends at her home on Main street, in honor of her guest, Elizabeth
C. Shirley. It was a gathering much enjoyed by all the company.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hurlin and their sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Hurlin Harmon of
New Hampshire and Mrs. George Hurlin Weecott of California, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Zenas O. Wentworth at dinner on Sunday, Nov. 16th. Mrs. Harmon and Mrs. Weecott are soon to leave for California, where they will spend the winter.

Archie Hurd, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Herbert Hurd of Harbor, (Fryeburg) and a student of Fryeburg Academy, was assistant organist at the church of the New Jerusalem on Sunday morning.

Mrs. Z. O. Wentworth, the regular organist, played the musical numbers of the service which consisted of selections, responsive service and various responses and hymns; and Mr. Hurd played the voluntary, the offertory, the last hymn and the postlude. Rev. B. N. Stone preached a earnest discourse on The One Thing Needful, which was founded upon the words given in St. Luke, 10th chapter, 41st and 42d verses. Bright geranium and chrysanthemum blossoms with their green foliage formed the pleasing floral decorations.

In addition to the administration of its waste land for foreign purposes, the individual state should play a part in co-operation with private timberland owners, commensurate with the interest which the state has in maintaining its timber supply.

There's no question as to which you would choose to eat. And there's just as much difference between fresh tobacco in the Sickle Plug and dried-up particles of sliced or granulated tobacco.

All the natural tobacco flavor and moisture are pressed into the Sickle Plug, and kept in by the natural leaf wrapper. You whittle a pipeful off the plug as you use it—that is why you always get it fresh—always get a slow-burning, sweet, cool, satisfying smoke.

WHY YOU SHOULD USE CHILTON PAINT

It is a Pure Linseed Oil Paint. It contains no Benzine or Naptha in any form. Its record for durability is not surpassed. It has been used here in Norway for 20 years. It covers more, covers better and wears longer than many other advertised brands.

It really costs less than paints sold for less money, for it must be thinned with Linseed Oil or Turpentine before using.

Try it this year and you will always demand it.

CASTOR OIL IS TASTELESS NOW.
Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is Pure Yet Without Taste or Smell.

Now that castor oil is tasteless, a perfect laxative has arrived.
Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil, a new product of the Kellogg oil mills, is so absolutely without taste or smell that even the children do not object to it.
Good bye, drugs and pills.
Castor Oil has come into its own again. Doctors have always recommended it.
The Kellogg way of making it does not take a single bit of good out of castor oil; rather it purifies the oil and makes it more effective.
Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil does even better work than the old-fashioned kind. Sold at all drug stores in 25c and 50c bottles, not in bulk. Ask for it by name or you may be given the old kind, mixed or flavored.
The signature, Kellogg's, is on every bottle, in a green castor leaf trade mark. Made only by Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc., Buffalo, N. Y., refiners of vegetable oils.

How to Use Peruna for Coughs and Colds

If Peruna were used at the beginning of every cold, coughs would generally be prevented.
After the cough begins Peruna will generally stop it just as quickly as it is caused to be stopped. To stop a cough before all of the expectation has been removed is to do great injury. After the expectation has been properly removed the cough will stop itself. That is the only proper way to stop a cough.

Occasionally a cough depends upon an irritable condition of the larynx or bronchial tubes in which there is little or no expectation.
The problem of stopping such a cough is a slightly different one. Even in those cases Peruna ought to be taken, but sometimes it is necessary that local treatment be added.

Every one who has a troublesome cough or a lingering cold should write the Peruna Company, Columbus, Ohio, for a free copy of the "Tills of Life." There is no free pamphlet distributed to-day of more real value to the sick and afflicted than the new "Tills of Life." It is filled from cover to cover with actual cases of cough, colds and other climatic diseases in all stages and complications. You could scarcely fail to find your case exactly described in this book.

To neglect to do everything possible to get rid of a stubborn cold or chronic cough is very unwise indeed. Peruna has enjoyed a great reputation as a remedy in such cases for thirty or forty years. As a rule, a person who uses one bottle of it is always afterwards an enthusiastic advocate of Peruna. Peruna itself is a means of selling more Peruna than all advertisements put together.
Those who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

VOLUME XLIV.

Apple Prices and Premiums.

In talking with Geo. A. Yeaton, field manager and director of Orchard demonstration work of the University of Maine, we find the following prices were received for export apples.

The Indian Head Fruit Growers Association of Hebron for Baldwin and Spys get $4.00 per barrel for No. 1 and No. 2s. Oxford Bear Fruit Growers Association, Hebron, got $4.25 per barrel for the same grades. Apples delivered at the railroad station.

J. M. Millett on the W. H. Swett farm in Paris got $5.00 per barrel for No. 1 and No. 2s--Spys and Baldwin.

Hiram Heald and C. L. Case, Paris, got the same price. Also Oscar Swift and Sydney T. Brown of West Sumner.

A. C. Perham, West Paris, got $3.00 per barrel and at the recent Pomological show at Lewiston he got 2d premium for best barrel of Baldwin. Henry Bonney, East Sumner, got $3.00, as did R. L. Cummings of West Paris and Chas. Berry, Jr., Hartford.

As is seen from the above, $3.00 per barrel for 1s and 2s was the prevailing price. The most of these apples were sold to C. C. Barker of Auburn for shipment across the water.

Only about 25 per cent. of the usual crop was got this year, but most of the export fruit was above the average for quality.

At the Pomological exhibit at Lewiston more premiums were awarded to Oxford County apple raisers than to all the rest of the State. Walter G. Conant, Hebron, got more first premiums than anybody else. First for general exhibit, boxes and single plates, he got the Maine Central R. Co. Cup.

He also captured the $50.00 in cash offered by the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce.

Everett Conant, Hebron, of the Oxford Bear Fruit Growers' Association, sailed last Monday for Liverpool and London to make arrangements for the marketing of next year's crop of fruit for his Association.

It will be seen by the above that the Association got the largest price for their fruit.

Prof. Yeaton is interested in raising grass as well as apples and is firm in the belief that hay can be profitably raised by the use of commercial fertilizers and the plowing in of green swad crops.

His experiments show that a ton of hay raised by the use of stable manure and rotation of crops cost $10.50, while by plowing under green crops and using commercial fertilizer a ton of hay is produced for $7.50. He says there is no danger of "running out" a farm if proper methods of commercial fertilizer and tilling are used. He can prove this by the results obtained at his Augusta farm.

Geo. Brown of Hartford has cattle on his farm, which is to say oxen, as all successful and thrifty farmers should. They are Herefords; one pair girls 7 feet 8 inches, another 7 feet 2 inches and the steers 6 feet and 8 inches. He also raised and sold 530 barrels of apples and got $3.00 per barrel.

The Norway Fruit Growers Association get $3.50 per barrel for their apples.

Frank H. Morse of Watford sprayed his orchard and got a good crop of smooth fruit, while the apples in his neighbor's orchard which join his were ruined by insect pests, hence if you wish to raise marketable apples, you must spray the trees.

Mrs. Birney Field spend Tuesday in Lewiston.

Helen Noyes, Mercy Millett and Randall Porter's family have been invited to Julia Millett's, South Paris, for Thanksgiving.

The Beal's Tavern turkey weighs over 16 pounds dressed. He was exhibited in Harry Packard's show window a short time since.

A. B. Bassett has been appointed agent to sell non-resident, hunters' licenses and shipping tags, by the fish and game commissioner.

The next meeting of the Veranda club will be at Mrs. Cora Cordwell's on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 6. Members are requested to assemble at 2 p. m.

Drake & Brooks have most attractive windows, filled with Thanksgiving goodies. The log house "1820" has all the "fixins." The windows are lighted in the evening with colored electric lights.

Mrs. Ira M. Hewison and son, George Winfield Hewison, of Auburn are visiting Mrs. Hewison's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Pottle's, on Main street. Mr. Hewison spent the week-end here.

Will Libby is travelling agent for a Portland firm selling fruits and vegetables. This is the same position which Brown has held. Mr. Brown is to have another department for the same firm.

Harry Rust W. R. C. No. 45, will hold their meetings in the afternoon instead of evening. The meetings will be called to order at 2 p. m. The change in the meetings will take place the first meeting in December, the 4th.

The Veranda club was entertained on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 20th, at the pleasant home of Mrs. Ida R. Hall on Fair street. There was a good attendance and a very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by all. Sewing was taken up by a large number of the guests. Selections were given on the phonograph and piano during the afternoon. A fine lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughters, consisting of sandwiches, coffee, cookies, tarts, and an assortment of cake too many to mention. This is on record as one of the events of the year. The club separated at a late hour, returning to their homes feeling drawn nearer together as a happy band of workers, having thus passed such a social afternoon.

The members of Harry Rust W. R. C. No. 45, enjoyed an unusually pleasant and instructive meeting at their hall on Thursday evening, Nov. 20. A good attendance was noted. A rehearsal of the ritualistic work was taken up by the president and good results were obtained. A short program is taken up at each meeting under the good of the Order, including recitations, readings, and appropriate songs, making a very interesting part of the evening's program. The initiatory degree work will be conferred on several candidates at the next regular meeting, Dec. 4th, at 2 p. m. Light refreshments will be served. All members are requested to bring something in the pastry line.

B. G. McIntire for Governor.

At a meeting of Oxford county Democrats at the Court House at South Paris, a resolution requesting Bertrand G. McIntire of Watford to grant permission to present his name at the primaries next June as a candidate for Governor was unanimously adopted amid great applause.

The meeting opened at 10 a. m. and was presided over by Judge Matthew McCarthy of Rumford, formerly of Lewiston. After a short speech reviewing the good work of the party and complimenting the representation at the meeting, Mr. McCarthy called upon the following committeemen: William Gordon, Fryeburg; E. E. Rounds, Brownfield; Dr. C. K. Yates, West Paris; Thomas S. Bridgman, Buckfield and A. B. Shurtliff, South Paris. All of these gentlemen brought messages of good cheer from their localities.

Chairman McCarthy then called upon Hon. Cyrus W. Davis of Waterville former secretary of State. Congressman McGillicuddy, Hon. S. Kimball of Norway reviewed the history of Oxford County Democracy, going back to those days when it was impossible to get out an attendance of more than 15 or 20 at the county conventions. He praised President Wilson's manner in which he was conducting the Mexican affair. He said the President was patriotically striving to avoid war and yet was preserving the dignity of the nation.

Mr. Kimball concluded by reading the resolution asking Mr. McIntire's consent to present his name at the June primaries as a candidate for governor.

Mr. McIntire is a former sheriff of Oxford County, one of the state assessors and a member of the Democratic State committee. He has the reputation of being a close, business man with no spots in his record.

At the close of the meeting an adjournment was taken, at 1 p. m. a banquet was enjoyed.

Mrs. Augusta E. Linnell

Mrs. Augusta E. Billings, wife of Alvin M. Linnell died at her home in Lynn, Mass. Nov. 18. She had been in poor health for several years and had recently suffered from heart trouble with complications.

Mrs. Linnell was the daughter of Samuel D. and Adeline E. (Davis) Billings and was born in Woodstock, Nov. 13, 1863. In 1870 the family came to Norway where she spent her girlhood days and was educated in the Norway schools.

Her husband, Samuel D. Billings, will be remembered by Norway people as landlord of Beal's Hotel.

In 1881 her parents went to Lynn, where they have resided for about 30 years. Here she married Alvin M. Linnell in 1884. They had one son, Herbert L. Linnell, who died April 19, 1913, after a short illness, leaving a young wife.

The death of the son was such a shock to the mother as to be the means of hastening her death. She was a conscientious christian woman and devoted to her home and family.

She leaves a husband, mother and one brother besides many other relatives and a large circle of friends.

Services were held at her home, Rev. C. B. Stone officiating. Her favorite hymn, the twenty-third, was read and the quartet rendered appropriate music. The flowers were many and beautiful.

She was laid to rest, Nov. 18, on her fiftieth birthday in the cemetery at Lynn.

Looking Backward.

In Oisfield.—IX.

My last sketch in the series of "Looking Backward in Oisfield" reminiscences was devoted to Oisfield Gore and why it was formerly called Phillips' Gore. From some notes taken from Cumberland Registry of Deeds, I also find that many of the lots were purchased by Harrison Gray Otis for whom the town was named. Here are a few of them:

Harrison Gray Otis to George Pierce, Harrison Gray Otis to Mark Knight, Harrison Gray Otis to Samuel Gammon, Harrison Gray Otis to Noah Spurr, Harrison Gray Otis to David Rea (Ray), Harrison Gray Otis to Benjamin Patch, Harrison Gray Otis to Oliver Pierce, Harrison Gray Otis to Grinnell Blake.

George Pierce was the first settler of the town who came from Grotton, Middlesex County, Mass., in 1775. He was a real business man of the old school and was distinguished in his day for his enterprise, honesty and savvy of manners. He was a Justice of the Peace under the appointment of the governor of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, and as agent of the proprietors of the township surveyed the lands and made out the deeds to the purchasers for the proprietors to sign.

Here is an example copied in outline from Cumberland Registry, book 30, page 274: "Harrison Gray Otis, Sergt., and Samuel Allens, this county of Essex, to Jonathan Moore, yeoman, both of Oisfield, as tenants in common, in consideration to build a sound and sufficient sawmill and mill dam, a parcel of land further described in the deed.

The sawmill was, no doubt, the first sawmill erected in the township of Oisfield, which disappeared nearly a half century ago, except the name. The milldam is yet extant. This deed was given in 1799.

The description of lands sold to settlers in Phillips' Gore contain almost invariably this or similar phyleology: "John Phillips, Jr., to Thomas Edes, of land in that part of Oisfield called Phillips' Gore, No. 15, 4th range, 107 acres." "Same to Barney Sawyer, lot of land in plantation called Phillips' Gore, No. 24 in 2d range, 77 acres."

"To John Linnell of Gorham, county of Cumberland, Mass., one parcel of land in that part of said Oisfield called Phillips' Gore." Signed John Phillips and Lydia Phillips, Andover, com. of Massachusetts.

A deed given in 1792 names as the "consideration," "Ninety-five pounds, sixteen shillings, 10d lawful money." This adoption of the word "consideration" by the federal constitution but evidently before the change to our present decimal form of currency.

I remember distinctly when the present highway from Wight's Corner to Oxford was located and built, but cannot state the precise year. It was called the "Case Hill Road," and I think involved quite a controversy concerning its location. That was, I think, before 1850. It proved to be a great public convenience, but necessitated the discontinuance of the old road for nearly a mile, leading by the old Shaw-Barrow tannery, toward Greely Hill and Oxford (Oxford).

One of the most sensational events, occurring in Oisfield seventy or more years ago, was the disappearance of a young boy of eight years old from his home in the Cobb neighborhood. His name was Ethan Owen Elwell. He was the son of a poor woman residing in Poland or some other place across Thompson Pond. A general alarm, caused by the absence of the boy from his home was responded to by citizens in town and from Casco, and several days were spent searching through woods.

There occurred an incident which led at once to the finding of the lost boy. It is related in one of the verses of a poem composed by Orson Drake, a local poet of that time:

"There was a man named Barclay Wight, Who dreamed he saw the boy one night— In Thompson Pond he heard him cry, And in the morning of it told."

This dream led to renewed effort for the discovery of the lost little boy, and he was soon found lying drowned in the edge of the pond in the southern section known as "The Heath." It was a very sad event and it enlisted the deepest sympathies of us children particularly, and we wept freely when one of my girl cousins sang the pathetic song by Drake.

There are few now living that can remember the story of the boy that was lost and discovered by a dream.

Did you ever "go a-suckering" Mr. Editor? The Brooks tributary to Thompson pond, also Pleasant pond abounded in suckers in the early spring and a mess of them was regarded a special treat as a temporary switch-off from salt pork or beef.

Well, one night in the 40s or thereabouts I was in the company of some East Oisfield boys on the Sucker brook between that place and the pond, where we soon encountered a similar party from Scribner Hill and vicinity. We were wading and had just started and hearing the big fish as they came up. Some of us collided with the other party and then commenced a lively fray, such as may be remembered by some of my readers.

The form of hostilities consisted in hurling firebrands through the air, each endeavoring to light the other's plentiful supply of pitch pine torches. I think the outcome of it was a drawn battle and no serious damage to either party. But the thing I remember most distinctly and impressed itself most indelibly, was the great prowess of the champion of the Scribner Hill party, and of his wonderful skill in disseminating the pitchwood torches at us with his left hand. He might have been a descendant of the Benjaminses of old Bible times. I have never seen him since that memorable night, but his brave deeds and his name are not forgotten. He was Ivory Whitte and was a notable character.

Another suckering expedition was in the early '50s on the brook which meanders down from College Swamp by Hancockville. The principal heroes of the party were Joseph Hancock and Silas Nutting, two of the most genial friends of my life. It was an occasion for the exercise of a lively imagination, with which they were well endowed. So, as we followed the brook down toward the pond, it was quite wonderful what a variety of fish were taken by those two Knights of the Spear. First, Hancock hooked a large cod, and then Nutting hooked a large cod. "I've got a cod!" the next minute Hancock's spear had secured a haddock or some other well-known inhabitant of the salt water; until, at length, nothing less than a halibut or a whale was eligible to be considered in the number of the big fish on the string we were making up as trophies of this piscatory adventure. But they all looked very much like suckers after all.

And the fun we had out of it; how I often laugh over the memory of such extravagant notions as my friends displayed on that long ago experience of going a-suckering!

The festive land-locked salmon and black bass were then unknown in our lakes and ponds except in Sebago and Long Lakes. But since we are familiar with these suckers and pumpkins, and only as subjects of tame reminiscences of days that will never come back.

BY GRANVILLE FERNALD.

Thanksgiving Prayer.

Fill thou my heart with gratitude today For every triumph word and kindly smile, And when the smallest blessing comes today, That cheers my saddened heart a little while.

I thank Thee for the sunshine and the rain; I thank Thee for the common things of life When want and need, and poverty are rife.

I thank Thee, Lord, that grief can't always last, That there's an end to sorrow's darkest day, That we are grateful for pleasures past, My joys that Thou savest to take away.

The treasures that were lent me for awhile And then recalled, O help me, Lord, to smile And say, "Thy will be done," sincere and true, And give me work these empty hands can do.

For all my cruel sorrow and mistakes I humbly offer thanks to Thee today, If thus I've learned to soothe a heart that aches, Or turn some wanderer's feet back to the way.

That leads to home and heaven and peace and God, Then only can I thank Thee for the rod; To help another mourner to hear his cross, Then only can I learn to kiss Thy cross.

DON'T DOPE A PUNY CHILD

Parents—don't give that puny, ailing, underweight child any of those so-called "tonics" containing alcohol or dangerous drugs; such stuff won't give relief and health to grown people, let alone children. Its purpose is to "stimulate" for a short time after each dose, just as whiskey or morphine does, thus making you believe it is doing real good.

Give that child something that will really build it up—strengthen the wasted tissues—feed the stunted, dwarfed, puny muscles—make it lively, strong, well-filled of the animal spirits children are meant by nature to have. Give it Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is wholesome, nourishing, free from alcohol and dangerous drugs. It's the ideal natural blood and body builder. It does the work it is planned to do better than any other medicine we know of, and our faith in it is so great that we not only urge you to use it and give it to your children—but we guarantee that it will do all we say it will or cost you nothing.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion should be given to children who catch cold easily. Begin right now, and use it to build up the child's system to such strong health that it can resist colds, croup, grippe, bronchitis, catarrh, pneumonia, and other cold weather diseases. Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion to get and keep well and strong. For the tired-out run-down, nervous, emaciated or debilitated child—the convalescing—growing child—the weak and run-down and you who are well now, but are liable to suffer from various cold weather ailments, use Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion to get and keep well and strong. OH! YOU HAVE SUCH BEAUTIFUL HAIR!

What a pleasant thing to have said to you! And why shouldn't it be? You who envy others their lovely hair, and are ashamed of the dull, lifeless, stringy appearance of your own—use Harmony Hair Beautifier, and let others envy you.

This delightful liquid seems to polish and brighten the hair, giving it that burnished, lustrous look you have so often wished it might have, adding to its softness, making it easier to put up and "stay put"—making it more attractive and beautiful in every way. It overcomes the unpleasant, oily smell of your hair, leaving a delicate, rich rose perfume that will delight you and those around you.

Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing. Contains no oil; will not change the color of hair nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing.

Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Can't harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprayers.

Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony laboratories in Boston, where the many celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made. Lyon—Haggood.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lyon, Saturday, at half after one o'clock, Mildred W. Haggood of Bethel became the wife of Harry A. Lyon of Auburn.

Rev. W. C. Curtis of the Congregational church was the officiating clergyman, using the single ring service.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white crepe de chine over white satin with shadow lace trimmings with a veil of silk tulle with pearl ornaments. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses.

She was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. Ella Haggood Lyon. The couple were unattended. Mrs. Edward Lyon, Ethel Richardson, Emma Burke and Gladys Spearin held the ribbons marking the pathway for the bride couple. Mona Martin presided at the piano.

Mrs. Lyon is the daughter of Mrs. Ella Haggood Lyon, and has spent most of her life in Bethel, being a graduate of Gould Academy and later a successful teacher in the graded school. She is one of Bethel's beloved young ladies, a musician of much ability, having served for several years as organist at the Congregational church.

Mr. Lyon was born in Bethel, the son of the late Abial and Ella Verrill Lyon. Of late years his home has been in Auburn where the couple will reside.

The home decorations were very pretty, the living room being decorated in blue and white, while the color scheme in the room in which the wedding ceremony was solemnized was carried out in pink carnations and green, the bower of evergreen filling the bay window.

The couple have received many valuable presents of money, silver, cut glass, fine linen and so on.

After the ceremony a brief reception was held. Ice cream and cake were served. Mr. and Mrs. Lyon left on the 8.30 train for their future home at Auburn, where they will keep open house for all friends.

Joseph Andrew's Letters.

Hunting for gold is a mania with many people and amongst the mountains of California thousands of miners are continually looking for the precious dust. Year after year while strength and health endure, the miner with mattock, spade and pan, searches through the valleys and gulches in search of placer gold, or with hammer, drill, and mortar, searches the rocky mountain side; the one hoping to find vast wealth in some hidden pocket of shining gold dust, the other dreaming of untold wealth to come from some rich load or mineral vein as yet undiscovered.

Many of these men left their far away eastern homes, their friends and loved ones, and in their young manhood, full of hope and faith, came to the Golden State, fully expecting in a few short years to acquire a fortune, and then go back to spend their latter days in ease and comfort in the old home land.

While a few succeeded, a great proportion of the prospectors fail. Year after year they struggle on until the arm grows weak and the eye grows dim and then having hoped till hope is dead, and being too proud to go back broke, they hide themselves away in some of these secluded valleys until life closes, and then are laid away by kindly hands in some miner's cemetery.

Mr. Swan told me that in all the years that he has been away from home, I was the only person that he had met that he had ever known before.

The three days that we spent together in that far off mountain home were days long to be remembered. We talked of the old home, the old playmates, and recalled many of our childhood's pranks and plays and then the time of parting came.

I do not know as I can close this sketch in a more appropriate way than by quoting a part of that old familiar song "90 years ago" which with a few changes and calling it 50 years ago, will fairly represent the meeting of the two Joes at Happy Camp, California, April 22-24, 1913.

I've wandered to the village, Jo, I've sat beneath the tree,

Upon the schoolhouse play ground, that sheltered you and me;

But none were left to greet me, Jo, and few were left to know

Who played with us upon the green, some fifty years ago.

The grass was just as green, Jo, bare footed boys at play

Were sporting, just as we'd then, with spirits just as gay;

But the "master" sleeps upon the hill, which, coated o'er with snow,

Afforded us a sliding-place some fifty years ago.

The old schoolhouse is altered now; the benches are replaced

By new ones, very like the same our penknives once defaced;

But the same old bricks are in the wall, the bell swings to and fro,

Its music's just the same, dear Jo, as 'twas fifty years ago.

The river's running just as still; the willows on its side

Are larger than they were, Jo; the stream appears less wide;

But the grape vine arbor is ruined now, where once we played the beau,

And swung our sweatharts, pretty girls, just fifty years ago.

The spring that bubbled 'neath the hill, close by the spreading beach,

Is very low,—'twas then so high that we could hardly reach;

And, kneeling down to get a drink, dear Jo, I started so,

To see how nifty I am changed, since fifty years ago.

Near by that spring, upon an elm, you know you cut my name,

Your vestments just beneath it, Jo, and you did mine the same.

Some heartless wretch had peeled the bark, two rings slow but sure

Just as she died, whose name you cut, some fifty years ago.

My hide has long been dry, Jo, but tears came to my eyes;

I thought of her I loved so well, those early broken ties;

I visited the old church yard, and took some flowers to strew

Upon the graves of those we loved, some fifty years ago.

Some are in the church yard laid, some sleep beneath the sea;

But few are left of our old class, excepting you and me;

And when our time shall come, Jo, and we are called to go,

I hope they'll lay us where we played, just fifty years ago.

"Do It Now"

By CORA M. W. GREENLEAF.

If you've a cheery smile to spare,
A kindly word to cheer,
To lift another's load of care
And help them on their way,
I guess you better do it now,
It isn't safe to wait.

For if you put it off, somehow
It might turn out too late.
If you've a dollar for the poor,
You better make it two,
Or if you rather make it more!
The Lord won't punish you—
But he'll be sure to give,<
You better give it now,
It really isn't safe to wait—
Just give it, anyhow.

If you've a quarrel on your hands
That's got to be made right,
All the power of haste demands
You do it ere it's too late.
If there's forgiveness due from you
To some one that you hate,
Just give it, generous and true,
And give it ere too late.

If you've got any love for me
I want it here and now,
Don't wait until I've gone from thee
So far I won't know how.
Much you love me, anyway—
Now while my heart is sore,
So tell me all your heart would say—
Then add a little more.

Why wait to do the things we plan,
Kind, beautiful and true,
When now's the only time we can
Be sure to put them through?
Today is ours,—our little hour—
Tomorrow'll be too late,
To do it now is in our power
Then why procrastinate?

BETHEL

The Universalist Sunday School is preparing for a Christmas concert.

At Bethel Inn, Thanksgiving Day, a special dinner will be provided for the public.

Rev. J. H. Little preached at Locke's Mills, last Sunday at 5:30 p. m., and will speak there again in two weeks.

A little flurry of snow Tuesday morning gave a hint of what is coming later. The sun quickly removed the snow, except on the distant hills.

The annual chicken pie supper, by the ladies of the Universalist parish was enjoyed by a goodly number, and was a financial success. Just as the supper hour, a generous shower of rain set in and this prevented a number from attending, who rarely miss the annual social gathering.

Next Sunday Rev. Mr. Little will deliver a Thanksgiving sermon at Mason, at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Mr. Little and family will be at Exeter, N. H., Thanksgiving day. The usual Thanksgiving service at Bethel is to be omitted this year, and instead each church will have its own service.

SILAGE FOR BEEF CATTLE FEEDING

Attention has frequently been called to the fact that the cattle feeder gets his largest profit not directly from feeding operations, but rather from the increased productiveness of his land, says the Iowa Homestead. But the average man likes to see a profit on every branch of his operations. Unless live stock farming can be carried on so that by and for itself it pays well for the time occupied in carrying it on, then no amount of screaming from the house top will ever make the live stock industry take permanent root on the farms of the corn belt.

One of the experiment stations recently finished up a bunch of steers that were fed shelled corn, cottonseed

meal and clover hay. These steers were purchased at $5.55 per hundred pounds, and they were sold for $8.25, but in spite of this good spread in value the net profit per steer was $3.37. It cost $14.25 to make a hundred pounds of gain on these steers, computing the feed at regular market prices. In an adjoining feed lot a similar number of steers were fed the same length of time, but in this case corn silage was used in place of clover hay. These steers were bought at the same price—namely, $5.55 per hundred pounds—and they sold 10 cents per pound higher than the steers fed on hay, or for $8.35 per hundred pounds. Their gains were made at a cost of $9.88 per hundred pounds, and the net profit per steer in this case was $20.96.

These results are worth pondering over by those who propose to follow along the same old fashioned route in feeding cattle. The cheap gains in this case were due to the fact that a given acreage produces a larger amount of good fattening food in the form of ensilage than can be produced in any other way. The man who tries to finish cattle on dry feed alone must in the future compete with those who take this short cut to cheap gains. There can be only one outcome of a situation like this—namely, that the practice of those who use the cheapest meat making foods will be the basis of cost in the future. Those who cannot bring the cost down to this minimum point by the use of this comparatively inexpensive food will be eliminated from the business or they must continue to carry it on at a loss, relying wholly for their profit upon the effect of feeding operations on the productiveness of their land. As said before, this profit will not suffice in the case of the average man. If dry feed cannot be fed at a profit then quit feeding dry feed. It ensilage reduces the cost of making gains anywhere from 2 to 4 cents a pound, then how is this competition to be met by those who do not feed ensilage?

HEBRON

Barrows Memorial.

Last winter a granite boulder nearly five feet high placed under the trees at the east of the Hebron Academy building and upon this a tablet recently has been set in memory of Deacon William Barrows, founder of the Academy. This monument, erected by his descendants, is a fitting memorial of the man who came into an almost unbroken forest and laid the foundations of a town, a church and a school. The inscription is on a bronze tablet and reads as follows:

"I fear God and know no other fear."
Words and spirit of William Barrows, born of colonial stock in Carver, Mass., Jan. 22, 1790; patriot soldier in the war for Independence; pioneer and settler of this town; founder of Hebron Academy; liberal giver to its needs; its eloquent defender when in danger of removal elsewhere; deacon of the church; foremost citizen of Hebron; its representative in the General Court of Massachusetts. A wise, public spirited, good man, and true. Died in Hebron, Nov. 22, 1837. To him this monument in grateful memory of his beneficence is erected by his descendants, 1913.

To Be a Successful Salesman.

While waiting upon one customer, if another customer should be standing and a floor manager or someone should ask, "Are you being waited on?" never say, "Oh, she doesn't want anything," or, "She has been waited on," let her speak for herself.

Never misrepresent quality or overstate price reductions or make any statement about your goods or service that are not absolutely right.

Never allow nearness to closing time or your lunch hour to reduce your stock of politeness and unwillingness.

Do not be in a hurry to get rid of a customer after she has assented to the purchase of an article.

Before you tear out your sales check be sure whether there may be some thing else in your section that she may desire.

Take advantage of every opportunity to introduce other lines and other departments.

When you are sure your customer is at home at your section, get her sales check money (if a cash sale) and the goods to the cashier at once.

Thank your customer, and do it as though you meant it.

Do not suggest sending small packages—rather, "Will you take it?"

Loose no opportunity to put in a good word for the goods and for the store.

A Friend Writes

The wedding gift of members of the house to Miss Jessie Wilson will be a magnificent lavalier. That beats any dictionary that the Democrat possesses, but it appears from other sources of information that the gift is a necklace or pendant with a number of diamonds.

(Since the above was in type it is learned from another source that the name of the thing is spelled "lavalier", but that doesn't bring it any nearer the dictionary.)

If the Democrat will consult Funk and Wagnall's new Standard Dictionary he will find "lavalier", a piece of jewelry consisting of a necklace and pendant. So called in honor of a duchess of the same name, "Lavalier."

A Valuable Suggestion Important to Everyone

It is now conceded by physicians that
the kidneys should have more attention
as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons
and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

During the winter months especially,
when we live an indoor life, the kidneys
should receive some assistance when needed, as we take less exercise, drink
less water and often eat more rich heavy
food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do
more work than Nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame
back, annoying bladder troubles, smart-
ing or burning, brick-dust or sediment,
sallow complexion, rheumatism, may be
weak or irregular heart action, warns
you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.
Many physicians claim that an herbal medicine containing no minerals or opiates has the most healing influence.
An ideal herbal compound that has had
most remarkable success as a kidney
and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's
Swamp-Root.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.,
and enclose ten cents; also mention the Norway Weekly Oxford County Advertiser.

Revolutionary Soldiers.

Since the article in the Advertiser of
Nov. 21st was printed, Judge C. F.
Whitman writes:
I have found among my memoranda
of local notes, evidently taken from the researches of the late Dr. O. O. Bradbury
the statement that Ebenezer Whitmarsh,
the Revolutionary Soldier, came to Norway from Massachusetts in 1794. His wife was Mary Humphrey of Gray. They settled on a fifty acre lot adjoining
Benjamin Herring's land, now the Frank
T. Pike place. He was a small built man
like his grandson, Col. Wm. Whitman
Whitmarsh and of few words. He died
June 5, 1827 and "was buried on Pike
Hill. His house was afterwards hauled
to Frost Corner and forms a part of the building on the Charles Partridge
place.

The records in the Registry of Deeds
shows that the Ebenezer Whitmarsh
farm was sold by his heirs to Moses Bradbury in 1828. These heirs were Capt. John Whitmarsh, who then resided
near North Norway, Thomas Whitmarsh
of Gray and the sisters, Betsey, who married Amos Noble of Norway, Mary, who married Elias Brown and Lydia,
who married Tristram Emery. The two
latter families settled in Waldo County,
Maine.

The widow of Ebenezer Whitmarsh
said to have been his 2nd wife, Mary
Rich died the next day after he died,
70. He was two years younger. There
must have been a double funeral, a remarkable occurrence, yet no mention is made of it in either history.

I have found also another item of interest relating to a Revolutionary soldier:
Enoch Frost born about 1760 in Goshen,
Me., served as Sergt. Major in Col. John-
than Mitchell's Regt. in the Penobscot Expedition mentioned. He was a younger brother of David Frost, the father of the four Frost brothers, who settled on Frost Hill and vicinity. He is said to have come to Norway late in life and
died here about 1813 and was buried in the Frost Hill burying ground, "being
the first grown person to be buried
there." He had a son Coleman Frost,
for whom the late well known Coleman
F. Lord was named.

Mr. Frost makes 45 soldiers of the Revolutionary War, who were Norway
citizens.

His First $100.
Frank True, city treasurer of Council Bluffs for the past decade or two, and
quite an extensive property owner in this city was once a waiter and made his first $100 as a tip.

Frank had his experience as a waiter
called to his mind yesterday when he received a copy of the country weekly
from his former home at Norway. The paper is the thirty years ago section,
mentioned the fact that the Vanderbilts,
who had been stopping at a big hotel at
the foot of Mount Washington had upon leaving after the summer months left a check for $5,000 to be divided among the waiters.

Mr. True was one of the waiters and says that he got $100 as his share. The waiters at the hotel were all students and were putting in the summer attending tables as a method of earning their way through school.

It would make a much better story to build the foundation of Frank's later
prosperity upon that $100; but it is remored that some persons and other similar transactions are up the creek of the Vanderbilts.—(Omaha Daily News.)

WHY YOU SHOULD USE CHILTON PAINT

It is a Pure Linseed Oil Paint. It contains no Benzine or Naphtha in any form. Its record for durability is not surpassed. It has been used here in Norway for 20 years. It covers more, covers better and wears longer than many other advertised brands.

It really costs less than paints sold for less money, for it must be thinned with Linseed Oil or Turpentine before using.

Try it this year and you will always demand it.

Diseases of Children.

I find that worms is one of the most common of children's diseases—either pin-worms or stomach worms.

These parasites attack the stomach and bowels and make their presence felt through deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly, pale face, loss of sleep, tingling of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

For over 60 years, Dr. True's Elixir, my father's discovery, has been the standard remedy for worms and stomach disorders. Take no chances, but use the time-tried remedy—Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. At all dealers', 35c, 50c and $1.00. Advice free. Write 48&1

One Bitter Memory of Childhood Gone

CASTOR OIL IS TASTELESS NOW.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is Pure Yet Without Taste or Smell.

Now that castor oil is tasteless, a perfect laxative has arrived.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil, a new product of the Kellogg oil mills, is so absolutely without taste or smell that even the children do not object to it.

Good bye, drugs and pills. Castor Oil has come into its own again. Doctors have always recommended it.

The Kellogg way of making it does not take a single bit of good out of castor oil; rather it purifies the oil and makes it more effective.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil does even better work than the old-fashioned kind. Sold at all drug stores in 25c and 50c bottles, not in bulk. Ask for it by name or you may be given the old kind, mixed or flavored.

The signature, Kellogg's, is on every bottle, in a green castor leaf trade mark.

Made only by Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc., Buffalo, N. Y., refiners of vegetable oils.

How to Use Peruna for Coughs and Colds

If Peruna were used at the beginning of every cold, coughs would generally be prevented.

After the cough begins Peruna will generally stop it just as quickly as it ought to be stopped. To stop a cough before all of the expectation has been removed is to do great injury.

After the expectation has been properly removed the cough will stop itself. That is the only proper way to stop a cough.

Occasionally a cough depends upon an irritable condition of the larynx or bronchial tubes, in which there is little or no expectation.

The problem of stopping such a cough is a slightly different one. Even in those cases Peruna ought to be taken, but sometimes it is necessary that local treatment be added.

Every one who has a troublesome cough or a lingering cold should write the Peruna Company, Columbus, Ohio, for a free copy of the "Ills of Life." There is no free pamphlet distributed to-day of more real value to the sick and afflicted than the new "Ills of Life." It is filled from cover to cover with actual cases of cough, colds and other climatic diseases in all stages and complications. You could scarcely fail to find your case exactly described in this book.

To neglect to do everything possible to get rid of a stubborn cold or chronic cough is very unwise indeed. Peruna has enjoyed a great reputation as a remedy in such cases for thirty or forty years. As a rule, a person who uses one bottle of it is always afterwards an enthusiastic advocate of Peruna. Peruna itself is a means of selling more Peruna than all advertisements put together.

Those who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

ROYAL—the most celebrated of all the baking powders in the world—celebrated for its great leavening strength and purity. It makes your cakes, biscuit, bread, etc., healthful, it insures you against alum and all forms of adulteration that go with the low priced brands.

Ninety-nine times out of a hundred the man who dislikes you, and tries to do you harm, is not one whom you have injured, either intentionally or otherwise, but one who has done you wrong. Look into this the next time you are surprised that someone whom you counted on goes back on you.

As the income tax law is now in operation, and as the government needs the revenue, it just naturally behooves every patriotic citizen to hustle around and get the income.

Christmas Purchases.

Already buyers are being urged to make their Christmas purchases early. If everybody will buy now, five weeks ahead of time, it will not only enable them to avoid the rush, but it will spare the big houses the inconvenience of hiring additional clerks and sales folks. It will also save the postoffice people lots of trouble. With the addition of the parcel post there is likely to follow an increase of work in the postoffice.

The fact that the postage is prepaid does not make the work of the postal clerks lighter, and if the Christmas mail could be evenly distributed over six weeks it would obviously make things easier for them. Besides, you have so much better chance in the way of selection if you and everyone else shop now instead of six weeks from now.

If everybody follows the advice now so generously given, the week before Christmas will be as quiet and peaceful as the week after. There would be something lost in the exhilaration of the display and the crowds of Christmas week, but just think how soothing it would be to the nerves. Then, too, if you send your gifts a few weeks ahead of time, every recipient will understand that a return gift is expected.

By all means, and for every reason, do your Christmas shopping early. Do it now. There will be enough who will make the week before fairly busy without you.

WEST PARIS.

Hear us, O Father,
Hear us, O Father,
Hear us, O Father,
Hear us, O Father,

Original paper, Freeman..... Wm. W. Wyman

Mr. Wyman applied his subject to the present trouble with Mexico and said in conclusion that he thought President Wilson was treating the difficulty in the best manner possible.

Solo, Help one another, Original.....

Has the day been dark my brother?

Will it make the sky look brighter?

Just to murmur and come again?

Look above your petty troubles

They are shutting out the light;

Lead a hand to help a brother

In the struggle for the right.

Refrain

Cast aside each selfish motive,

Let your life be not in vain;

Help to make the world a better

Place, will make sunshine come again.

Is your load too heavy a burden?

Does the way seem drear and long?

Do you fancy you're forgotten

By the eager anxious throng?

Don't forget your weaker sister

With her heavy load of care;

You will feel your burden lighten

As you thus her burden share.

Both the words and music were composed and sung by Clayton Churchill.

Declaration, Only a pin..... Allie E. Marshall

Graphophone selection, Beautiful Isle of some-

An autumn night, An original poem..... Mrs. F. Lang

They are as near perfect as human ingenuity and stove maker's skill can make them.
